By subscribing to the Online Community you can keep up to date with other members, your chapter, Special Interest Groups, and NAPNAP’s organizational activities through links to the member directory, eGroups, and blogs.

At NAPNAP’s 2010 Annual Conference in Chicago, I heard many attendees discussing the challenges of keeping up to date with new practices and professional issues, keeping in touch with other members, starting or continuing dialogs of interest, and keeping up with what NAPNAP as an organization is doing. Many of these individuals were not aware of NAPNAP’s Online Community and the opportunities it provides to stay up-to-date and connected. What better way to have access to the expertise of 7000 colleagues than through NAPNAP’s Online Community? By subscribing to the Online Community you can keep up to date with other members, your chapter, Special Interest Groups, and NAPNAP’s organizational activities through links to the member directory, eGroups, and blogs. Join me in reaping the benefits of the NAPNAP community anytime, anywhere, and celebrating the virtue of community.

REFERENCES

CORRECTION

The Answer Enrollment Form for use with the Pharmacology Continuing Education Post Test “2009 H1N1 Influenza Pandemic” (Journal of Pediatric Health Care, 24(4), 267-269) is titled incorrectly. Readers can find a replacement form by visiting www.jpedhc.org and accessing the manuscript in the July/August 2010 issue. The Journal regrets this error.